YOU CAN FEEL THE DIFFERENCE HERE

I hear it all the time from patients, family members and donors – it's different at St. Paul's Hospital. They try to put their finger on the pulse of that difference. For many it comes down to compassion and caring. Faith-based care is one leg of the stool, along with physical health and mental wellbeing, which work together to provide healthy outcomes for our patients.

In addition to being a vital acute care hospital, St. Paul's is a powerful healing force for Saskatoon's most vulnerable residents. We provide healthcare in the real world, delivering important human services to diverse groups in Saskatoon's most vulnerable neighbourhood. I believe our donors appreciate and support this important aspect of St. Paul's Hospital as well.

Laboratory renovations are well underway at St. Paul's to construct the new home for Saskatchewan's only digital Transmission Electron Microscope. We expect to celebrate the grand opening of this important addition to St. Paul's with our donors and stakeholders before the end of the year.

It is different at St. Paul's Hospital, and with your continued commitment as a donor we will remain a unique and powerful healing force in our community.

New Foundation Chair – Colleen Cameron-Bergan

After serving as Vice Chair of the SPH Foundation Board of Directors, Colleen Cameron-Bergan has assumed the role of Chair. Colleen is an Account Executive at SaskTel and prior to that, worked for the Office of the Treaty Commissioner. Thank you, Colleen, for your commitment to our Foundation!

TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE

St. Paul's High Volume Lab

For many patients, diagnosis begins in the lab. "Eighty percent of patient diagnoses are connected to laboratory testing," says Lenore Howey, manager of the High Volume Laboratory (HV Lab) at St. Paul's Hospital. On any given day, as many as 4,200 specimens pass through the HV Lab, each one representing a patient who is waiting for the results. "It's very high volume," says Lenore. "Quality is vital for the end result."

For that reason, the Saskatoon Health Region, under Lenore's leadership, has undertaken a "Lean" analysis of the HV Laboratory to identify time-wasting activities and streamline the processes so everything runs as smoothly and as timely as possible. "We monitor turnaround time 24/7 for acute care patients," she says. "We're very diligent in tracking that time on a daily basis and if there are any outliers, we review them every day to understand how we can do better." In the lab, specimen racks are colour-coded: red for acute care patients (in hospital), green for specimens referred from outside the hospital (community and rural) and blue for storage when testing is complete. Red specimens always take priority.

"One of our challenges is that we don't see our patients directly in the lab. They come to us in specimen bottles. Our focus is to remember they are someone's grandmother or someone's son," says Lenore, who oversees a staff of about 85 lab technologists, lab assistants and phlebotomists (those who take blood). "Our greatest asset is the wonderful staff I work with each day. They are professionals dedicated to the highest level of patient care and service."

TRANSMISSION ELECTRON MICROSCOPE

Preparations Underway

Thank you to everyone who supported our $1.4 million "Seeing Is Believing" fundraising drive to purchase an advanced Transmission Electron Microscope (TEM) for St. Paul's Hospital. The TEM is on order and, meanwhile, renovations are underway to create a state-of-the-art TEM lab at St. Paul's. It will be the first of its kind in Saskatchewan and will serve patients across the province. TEM is essential in the diagnosis of kidney disease and other conditions that require extreme magnification of the cell structure. "With the new digital electron microscope, the turnaround time for a diagnosis will be much quicker - three to five days," says TEM Technologist Karen Slattery. "It will greatly benefit patient care, teaching and research. The people of Saskatchewan are very fortunate to have this technology here."

DUBÉ AMBULATORY CENTRE GRAND OPENING

Grand Step for Urology Health

The Leslie & Irene Dubé Urology Centre of Health Ambulatory Unit opened at St. Paul's Hospital in January, improving the detection and treatment options for those who suffer from prostate cancer and other urological conditions. The new unit includes a resource area, research space, consultation rooms and nurse navigators who serve as advocates for patients and their families at a difficult time. "This is a wonderful gift for the many patients and families facing serious urological challenges, and a big step forward to involve patients in the way their health care is delivered," says urologist Dr. Kishore Visvanathan. Funds for the $2.4 million, 18-bed Rawlco Radio Surgical Unit and Dubé Urology Centre of Health were raised by St. Paul's Hospital Foundation's "Embracing the Future Campaign". Thank you to everyone who supported this life-saving campaign!

SPIRIT OF LIFE

Harold Bronson

When Harold Bronson passed away in July 2012 at the age of 94, he left a lasting legacy to his community – a $100,000 bequest to St. Paul's Hospital Foundation. "We did not know that Mr. Bronson had included St. Paul's Hospital in his will, so it was a wonderful surprise to receive this generous gift," says Bruce Acton, CEO of St. Paul's Hospital Foundation.

A farm boy from Alberta, Harold studied at the University of Saskatchewan, completing a PhD in 1965 and settling into life as a professor of political science and economics. He was fascinated by grassroots politics here and abroad, supporting farmer initiatives and travelling to Cuba, Jamaica, China and Russia to observe the political and economic conditions. He published several books and, for twenty years until 2004, produced the Canadian sovereignty newspaper "Independence News."

As a young man, Harold joined the air force and served as a navigator aboard Lancaster bombers operating in Europe during the Second World War. He was proud of his contribution to the fight against Hitler and Nazism. His devoted wife, Edith, passed away in 1994 and, for his last six years, he lived in the Veterans Village at the Sherbrooke Community Centre in Saskatoon.

"Harold Bronson was very authentic person, a man whose vision of his life, and for others, was to dream," says his nephew Neil Falkeid. "His belief that a sense of humor, the willingness to be open and desiring to learn, the need for human equity and dignity, and the importance of community stand as a legacy for Uncle Hal."

If you would like to learn more about leaving a legacy gift to St. Paul's through your estate or life insurance, please contact Lecina Hicke, St. Paul's Hospital Foundation Manager of Major Giving at 306-655-5832. Your thoughtfulness today will help us meet the health care needs of tomorrow and beyond.

SPHF FOUNDATION DRAWS

Every year, various departments around the hospital enter their "wish" in the $100,000 SPH Foundation Draw. On June 19th, applications were drawn with much fanfare until the collective value of the items reached $100,000. Among the "winning" items this year were vital sign machines in Day Surgery, special patient chairs in ICU, telephone headsets in Surgical Scheduling, a blanket warmer in Medical Imaging, power lifter for the Operating Room and catering for memorial services in Spiritual Care.

Items funded through the annual SPH Foundation Draw include equipment, furniture, services and programs that would otherwise not receive funding from other sources, but do much to improve the hospital experience for our patients, their families and our dedicated staff.

These draws are made possible thanks to the generosity of our donors.

MACKENZIE GIFT

Gift of Stocks: A "painless" Way to Support St. Paul's

Finlay and Faye MacKenzie pose with Bruce Acton, CEO of SPH Foundation, in the donor alcove at St. Paul's Hospital.

Long-time Saskatoon residents, Faye and Finlay MacKenzie believe it is important to give back to their community, especially in health care where the need never ends. They also wish to take advantage of the tax benefits of charitable giving.

By making a gift of stocks valued at $54,800 to St. Paul's Hospital Foundation, they did both: support health care at St. Paul's and reduce their income tax by a significant amount. "This is an easy and painless way to do it, for us and for the Foundation, too," says Finlay.

The MacKenzie donation went toward the purchase of two pieces of equipment, a bladder scanner for urology patients and an ultrasound system for kidney patients. They chose these two items from the St. Paul's Hospital Foundation Gift Catalogue, which lists items needed at the hospital for which there is no other immediate source of funding.

"We saw there was a need, especially for equipment," says Faye. "We've both had the services of the hospital and we want to give back when we can."

If you would like to learn more about making a gift of stocks to St. Paul's Hospital Foundation, please contact Lecina Hicke, Manager of Major Giving, at 306-655-5832.

MUZYKA ENDOWMENT

Endowment Keeps on Giving

Russel Muzyka and Delphine Winter plan to donate to St. Paul's Hospital throughout their retirement, so they've established an endowment in which to invest those funds. The Russel Muzyka and Delphine Winter Endowment Fund was created with an initial donation of $25,000 to St. Paul's Hospital Foundation. The principle investment will remain intact, while producing investment income for the Foundation.

"It's a good process," says Russel. "It allows us to add to the endowment at any time that we want to, and the investment income produced by the endowment will be used by the Hospital Board to the best of their ability."

While some donors choose to designate their donations to specific hospital services, programs or equipment, undesignated gifts such as the Russel Muzyka and Delphine Winter Endowment Fund are appreciated for their flexibility. "It allow us to place the funds in the area of greatest need as that need arises," says Lecina Hicke, Manager of Major Giving at St. Paul's Hospital Foundation.

If you would like to learn more about creating an endowment fund at St. Paul's Hospital, please contact Lecina Hicke at 306-655-5832.

MURAL PROJECT

New Life for a Community Work of Art

Fourteen years ago, St. Paul's and the surrounding community rolled up their sleeves, got out their paintbrushes and helped create a neighbourhood beautification project at our hospital – the retainer wall mural by the ramp to the Emergency Department.

The paint had faded with time and so, in June and July, a new mural was applied to the wall. St. Paul's collaborated with Saskatoon Community Youth Arts Programming (SCYAP) to engage the community in the conception and production of the new mural, involving youth from schools, young artists, local groups and businesses. The mural lives on as a source of pride and ownership for the entire community, thanks to funding from our generous sponsors:

Affinity Credit Union, Fire Creek Gas & Grill, Rexall Drugs, Westwood Funeral, Scotiabank, Tim Hortons and Conveyor & Machine Service.

In keeping with the newly articulated vision of St. Paul's Hospital, the mural reflects the theme "A community of health, hope and compassion for all."

NEW FACES AT SPHF

Lecina Hicke, Major Gifts Officer

Lecina has recently assumed the position of Manager of Major Giving after serving as Major Gifts Officer since April 2012. Prior to joining SPH Foundation, she was Manager of Alumni Relations, Development and Communications at Luther College High School in Regina. She moved to Saskatoon when her husband, an RCMP officer, accepted a posting here. As Manager of Major Giving, Lecina oversees planned gifts, bequests and major donations.

Sandhya Padmanabh, Manager of Communications and Stewardship

Sandhya joined our team in August after the departure of Jacquie Berg. She is very familiar with our hospital and our mission - her late father, Dr. S. Padmanabh, was a physician at St. Paul's. Sandhya has extensive credits in communications and stewardship including digital media, film and television projects. She even guided the logo development for Saskatchewan's centenary in 2005. We are pleased to welcome Sandhya to the St. Paul's family.
